

First in First Aid

MEDIA RELEASE

3 October 2007

St John Training comes to Richmond

St John Ambulance Australia (NSW) has established a new training venue in the Richmond area, making it easier and more convenient for you to get your Senior First Aid certificate and learn the skills to save a life.

Senior First Aid courses will be held at The Richmond Club, cnr Francis & East Market Streets. There are two Senior First Aid courses coming up, the first on the 13th and 14th of November and the second on the 18th and 19th of December.

St John (NSW) is encouraging more people in the area to learn First Aid as you never know when you might need the skills to help someone in an emergency.

Brett Hamilton, General Manager for NSW Business, St John (NSW) comments:

“St John is committed to ensuring that everyone is familiar with first aid skills, especially in the workplace and the home where most incidents are likely to happen.

“Learning life-saving skills such as those in the Senior First Aid course are the most valuable and important skills you could learn. You never know the life you save may be a loved one or even your own”.

Mr Hamilton says it is also extremely important to have the right equipment on hand to administer first aid in an emergency.

St John offers an extensive range of first aid kits for all uses – whether it be for the home or leisure activities, as well as NSW OH&S compliant workplace kits. To make sure your kits are always stocked up, ask about our first aid kit restocking service.

The commercial activities of St John support the great community work that St John volunteers undertake.

Call St John 1300 360 455 or visit www.stjohnnsw.com.au for more information and to book into a course.
